IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.

SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1866.

LACK of space obliges us to postpone publication of the remaining portion of the Retrospect of 1865.

THE large muster of Volunteers at the Main Guard on Thursday last affords just ground to hope that so far as the members of the corps are themselves concerned the old enthusiasm has been rekindled. For many months, indeed since the charm of novelty wore off and the probability of danger sank to a minimum, a feeling has been gaining ground that volunteering in time of peace is but child's play. At well might it be said that the operations performed on dead bodies by students of medicine, by which no human suffering is presently relieved, are mere child's play. When entrusted with the important duties of a physician it is too late to commence the study of medicine, and in like manner when danger assails us it is too late to commence to take ordinary precautions against it. Men called together in a hurry with no idea of mutual support would be useless in case of attack, yet the habit of working together and depending upon one another must be acquired in time of peace. The evident falling off in the interest wherewith volunteering was once regarded is no doubt due to many causes, but probably the most powerful was the indifference displayed by the heads of houses. A few of these gentlemen were sufficiently public-spirited to shoulder rifles, and work their way from the ranks to the officers' posts, but such bright examples were few and far between. We are surprised that the question never seriously suggested itself to those merchants who possess so enormous a stake in the safety of property in Shanghai, whether in case of imminent danger they possessed any ground of confidence. An emergency in Japan would clear the river and probably even the coast, of men-of-war, and a considerable time must elapse before a military force could arrive for our protection. Under these circumstances, to the Volunteers we must look for that safety which the Chinese government should secure to us, but for which we look to it in vain. This however suggests the consideration whether a claim for assistance might not be justly made on the Chinese government. In no civilised country in the world are foreigners obliged to maintain a force for their own protection, but on the contrary every stranger is as carefully preserved from injury as though he were a true son of the soil. If the Chinese are incompetent to afford any such protection, they may at least be expected to aid foreigners in protecting themselves. Volunteering at the ports is rendered necessary by the powerlessness of the Chinese government, and therefore if from it we can obtain no assurance of safety we have a right to expect assistance in carrying out those measures into which we have ourselves been forced But whether or not it be decided that a claim may justly be made upon the Chinese, the heads or representatives of large houses in this settlement have so much to lose that we are astonished at the apathy with which they regard the protective measures taken. An hour two or three time a week might well be spared to the assistants who are willing to attend drill, even if the Tai-pans themselves think it infra dig. to join the ranks. Why they should think so, we are at a loss to imagine, but probably some are penetrated with that idea. Those, however, who have the interest of the settlements at heart will not stand on a petty question of dignity, but will set an example which will be readily followed by the assistants in their employ. On the other hand the gentlemen who are so deeply impressed by the pre-eminence of their social position, that they regard with horror the idea of joining the ranks, may without detriment to themselves give others the opportunity of acquiring that discipline which one day or another may turn out so useful. And, lastly, if some enthusiastic lady in Shanghai, or better still, if the "ladies of Shanghai" were to present the corps with a set of colours worked by their own fair hands we answer for it that the muster roll would swell day by day, and drills and parades be fully attended. Every element of success should be brought to bear, and to none would we ascribe greater power than to the countenance and encouragement of the ladies.

COURT OF UNITED STATES CONSULATE GENERAL.

SHANGHAI, January 8th, 1866.

THOS. HUNT & Co. v. J. H. PARKS.

JUDGMENT.

The evidence elicited upon the trial was to the following effect:—

Some time in the years 1863-64 Messrs. Wheelock & Co. having on hand an engine &c., suitable for a tug boat, contracted with Messrs. Collyer and Lambert, to build one, making use of the engine therein. Messrs. Collyer and Lambert were to take a one-half interest in the vessel, Messrs. Wheelock & Co. retaining the balance. The Defendant at first arranged with the former to take one-half of their interest, but, failing to agree with them, afterwards he agreed with the latter to take a-quarter interest in the vessel from them, they taking three-quarters, instead of one half as before. This interest he was to receive on the completion of the vessel. That he was interested in the Plaintiffs appear to have known as he had said to them when the vessel was building, that he was interested in her, and afterwards, when about completed, that he was sorry he had put his money into her.

During the building, some portions of the engine could not be found. These were ordered by the defendant from the plaintiffs, but it appears that the latter knew that Messrs. Wheelock & Co. had to supply these parts, and that they refused to go on with the work unless that firm would be responsible for the account.

Certain merchandise was also delivered to the vessel, and certain machine shop work done for her, chiefly upon the orders of the defendant. The accounts were rendered as follows:—

The account for providing the missing parts of the engine was dated July 23rd 1864. The footing was Tls. 412.00 which was charged to str. Hercules or engine, Messrs. Wheelock & Co. I have taken the headings of the Bill, and in the absence of direct evidence have inferred that the Book entries correspond.

The plaintiffs endeavored to collect the sum of the accounts from Messrs. Wheelock & Co. but without success. They finally received a Compradore order for Tls. 300 on account not mentioned, but immediately thereafter and before collection, that firm failed. They now claim upon the defendant for the full amount of all the bills.

The petition and the answer were not drawn under legal advice, and are unsatisfactory. The former would indicate that the claim is made against the defendant as the only person known to the plaintiffs in the transactions. The answer amounts to a general denial. I take it, however, that the general question of the responsibility of the defendant on the evidence adduced was the one which either party to the suit considered to be before the Court. I shall therefore look at this question irrespective of technicalities.

So far as the account for providing the missing parts of the machinery is concerned I see no reason to charge the defendant. The credit appears to have been given to Messrs. Wheelock & Co. as merchants having on hand an inspection engine and not as agents for the owners of the vessel.

As to the other accounts, if the defendant be liable thereon he is to be held so either as an individual to whom a personal credit was given, or as an agent who by some exceptional circumstances has been rendered individually responsible, or as a part owner in the vessel, or person who has given the plaintiffs reason to believe that he was such, and who may be held accordingly.

It does not seem to me possible to hold the defendant as first mentioned. The credits as shown upon the bills themselves, were not given to him individually, but on the other hand the vessel or the owners are expressly charged in all except one or two cases, which are not significant since no distinction is alleged in the manner in which the orders were given.

Nor does it seem to me that he can be held as mentioned in the second place. The principals, if not named to the Plaintiffs, were known to them as the owners of the Hercules, the persons charged in account, and there seems no reason to believe that he either declared himself to be personally responsible, or that he gave reasonable grounds for such an implication, or even that the Plaintiffs chose to consider him as personally responsible, until after the date of the great body of the transactions.

This brings me to the question of the liability of the Defendant as a part owner, or as a person who so represented himself.

We have seen that his agreement with Messrs. Wheelock &Co. was to take a one-quarter interest from them on the completion of the vessel. The only evidence as to the date when he received this interest is that of the Defendant himself, who says that he received it in January 1865. There are no bills for January, but two, the items of which, amounting to 45.1.7 are of later dates. For these, I consider that the Defendant, as a part owner, is liable in full.

There may perhaps be ample grounds upon which as a last resort, to charge the Defendant for the accounts of previous dates, but since the Plaintiffs have failed to show that they are unable to collect from any of the persons who really were part owners during the time the bills were run up, it is my opinion that the question should remain in abeyance until they do thus show.

I therefore decree that the Defendant shall pay to the Plaintiffs the above-named sum of Tls. 45.1.7. The costs of this suit, also, shall be paid by him. This decree, however, shall not bar the Plaintiffs from pursuing the Defendant should they be unable to collect in other quarters, the amounts of the other accounts.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

REPORTS by the various Committees working under the Municipal Council, submitted and approved at the regular monthly meeting of the Council held January 10th, 1866.

PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE.

Roads.—Several portions of the streets in the settlement wanting repairs, your Committee have instructed the Municipal Engineer to prepare an estimate

1—For removing the round pebbles, and covering with small granite chips the following streets or portions thereof, viz:—

Hankow Road, between Kiangse and Honan Road

Foochow Road, between Kiangse and Shantung Road.

Canton Road, between Szechuen and Honan Road.

Shantung Road, from Foochow Road to Yangkingpang.

North end of Fokkien Road.

Bund, opposite Messrs. Siemssen & Co.

2—For covering with fine Granite chips 1 to 1½ inch the following portions of streets made of brick and mud, viz.:—

Nankin Road, from Bund to Honan Road.

Bund, from Canton Road to Hankow Road.

Honan Road, from Nankin Road to Yangkingpang.

Foochow Road, from Bund to Kiangse Road.

3—For erecting new kerbstones for footpaths in

Hankow Road, between Kiangse and Honan Road.

Canton Road, beteen Kiangse and Honan Road.

Nankin Road, entire length where required.

As soon as the estimate has been received, it will be laid before the Finance Committee, and your Committee hope that it may be possible to sanction the expense, as the works suggested are really necessary.

To place kerbstones for a foot path in Kiukiang Road between Kiangse Road and Bund your Committee have authorised at a cost of Tls. 3 per 10 feet English of length, Urinals—It has been decided that those now in stock be erected in the Chinese quarter of the settlement.

Debris of Houses.—Your Committee have instructed Mr. Johnston to press for a settlement of the account of expenses for pulling down the houses in Hankow road, as also for wages of watchmen, employed in looking after the property.

Barrier in Nankin Road.—Being of no further use, it has been ordered to be removed and that portion of the material not required for the use of the Municipality, to be sold

Box on the Bund for Sampan office.—The old one having been willfully destroyed by persons unknown, a new one has been ordered to be made.

Gas.—In Nankin road was lighted on the 18th ulto. The Gas Company having now decided upon a moderate price for Gas, your Committee would recommend that another attempt be made by the Municipal Council to light the Settlement with Gas, as the lower charge and now evident great improvement will, beyond doubt, have removed those objections which led to the plan not having met with success before.

Lamp Posts:—Which have been replaced by Gas Lamp Posts have been ordered to be removed to Hong-que.

Inspector of Roads.—The Salary of the Inspector of Roads has in conformity with a former arrangement been raised from 100 to 115 Taels per month, and quarters found him in the Local Post Office building.

WATCH COMMITTEE.

Your Committee have to report the strength of the Police Force at 101 men, viz: 65 Europeans and 36 Chinese.

New Police Officers.—Your Committee with the view of increasing the efficiency of the Police Force, have addressed Sir Richard Mayne, K.C.B., Commissioner of the London Metropolitan Police Force, with the view of obtaining the services of two trained London Police Officers.

Native Apprehensions.—A slight increase is exhibited during the past month.

Foreign Apprehensions.—The number arrested in December was 75 while the month previous the number was only 33. Upon reference to the charges upon which these prisoners were taken up,—57 cases of Drunkenness alone will be noticed. This is probably, however, exceptional and takes its rise from the Christmas and New Year Holidays.

without license, and cautioned that if again brought up for this offence, he would be severely punished.

Licenses to Chinese.—Were allowed as follows:

English Settlement,	9
Hong Que,	17
Total,	26

Robberies from Cargo Boats and Godowns.—Your Committee regret to have to bring to the notice of the Council, an extensive system of robbery which is being carried on from Godowns and Cargo Boats. Mr. Penfold is of opinion that pecultation to an enormous extent has been effected for some time past, especially from Packages containing Tea and Silk—and it would be well that the owners of cargo boats institute some more effectual check on such pecultation than exists at present.

Extortions and Squeezes.—Your Committee have ascertained that near the approach of the Chinese New Year, such are likely to be levied. They have therefore had a proclamation issued, warning the people against paying any monies whatever, excepting to the authorised foreign Tax Collectors of the Municipal Council, who are always in Police uniform, and that on all payments printed receipts in English and Chinese would be returned for the sums received, and they would also urge on any of the foreign community hearing of squeezes on Chinese to communicate with the Superintendent of Police.

MINUTES of the Annual Meeting of Subscribers to the British Episcopal Church at Shanghai, held at H. B. M.'s Consulate on the 10th day of January, 1866, pursuant to notice.

Present.—CHARLES A. WINCHESTER, Esq., H. B. M.'s Consul, in the Chair,

The Revd. C. H Butcher, Chaplain, W. G. Cuthbertson, Treasurer and Representative of Trustees, J. Hogg, Tate, Dent, Waller, Howell, Kingsmill, Lavers, Broadbent, Reid, Essex, Kidner, Thorne, Markham, Gwyn, Alabaster, Cowie, Hazeon, Gamwell, Hardy, Dickenson, Treasure Jones, Jamieson, Dulcken and others.

Mr. Treasure Jones having been requested to act as Secretary,

The CHAIRMAN opened the proceedings by remarking that no more agreeable occasion of meeting the members of the community could offer itself than that which brought them together for the discussion and settlement of Church matters. The recent date at which he had assumed the duties of his present office naturally prevented him from being able to explain with the detail which the subject merited the business which was to come before the meeting, but he might shortly allude to some of the more important topics which would come before them, and trust that the full and detailed statement of the Trustees would supply what was deficient. One of the points which had been under the consideration of the Committee since the last meeting was the preparation of a Trust Deed, but it appeared to him, after carefully considering the matter, that such is not necessary under the statute under which the affairs of the British Church establishments at Consular ports are managed. The terms of the Act VI Geo IV, Cap. 87 and the Regulations promulgated by the Secretary of State under its authority, constituted and maintained a statutory trust in favor of H. B. M. Consul for the time being and the Trustees and Treasurer duly elected at the statutory meetings of the subscribers. The deed of lease under which the property is now held was vested in the Consul and Treasurer, and it would probably be desirable to have such alterations made in the form of conveyance as would include all the Office-bearers referred to in the Act of Parliament and Regulations, in order to give effect and validity to conveyances of Church property. For this purpose it was thought desirable that the meeting should appoint a Committee of three gentlemen to consult with the Consul and Office-bearers as to the contemplated changes and as to the terms in which they should run.

The next step would be the erection of a new Church, and in this he was sure that the meeting would unite with him in thinking it desirable to maintain the greatest harmony and unanimity. Some complaints, it appeared had been made of the delay which had occurred in settling on the plans, but this delay was hardly to be regretted if it enabled them to fix on designs worthy of the important purposes for which the building was to be erected. It would be a sad thing if through mere impatience of delay a plan were to be adopted which, after completion the community would find unworthy of itself, whether so far as regards accommodation or external appearance. The time would not have been ill spent if it secured them in the end a decent and suitable temple for the worship of God.

The only other point to which he would advert was the annual election of Office-bearers. One of the Trustees had left Shanghai, and could hardly be considered as a resident, while the Treasurer had within the last few days also quitted the port, and was not likely to return for several months. Two vacancies were therefore left to be filled up. The Chairman concluded by calling upon Mr. Cuthbertson to read the Report of the Committee.

Mr. Cuthbertson, as representing the Treasurer and Trustees, read the report for the past year and placed the accounts on the table.

TRINITY CHURCH.

Report of the Trustees submitted to the Annual Meeting, held at the British Consulate on Wednesday 10th January, 1866.

In accordance with the Act of Parliament, the Trustees of Trinity Church lay before the meeting the annual accounts for the year ending 31st December 1865, and have to report upon them as follows:—

Treasurer's Accounts show

Ordinary Expenditure including all items under the head of Incidentals:—

Expense,	Tls. 4,515.98
Revenue,	„ 4,337.50
Excess of Expenditure,	Tls.	278.48
Extraordinary Expenditure, being 5 years Ins. on Parsonage Loan,	Tls. 1,057.50
Liquidation on do.	„ 1,057.50
	2,065.00
Revenue, being Subscriptions to Building Fund during 1865, taken into general account	Tls. 2,116.67	Tls. 448.33
Entire excess of Expenditure,	„	726.81
Increasing the amount due Treasurer to	Tls. 1,060.24

Parsonage Loan Account.—All arrears of Interest and Liquidation having been cleared off to 31st December, 1865, this account now stands at Tls. 2,992.50, as against Tls. 4,500, cost of the Parsonage.

Building account.—On 31st December, 1864 the Trustees had on hand Tls. 18,029.17 which by accumulation of interest, and receipts during the year now amounts to ..... Tls. 21,625 51

Of which is due by the Charter-ed Mercantile Bank of India, London & China, Tls. 19,484.23

General account..... „ 2,141.29„ 21,625.51

bearing interest at the Rate of 8 per cent per annum

Trust Deed.—Referred to in last Report as in course of preparation has not yet been completed. Some doubt has arisen as to the necessity for such an instrument, H. M. Consul having expressed an opinion that the trust is constituted under the Act of Parliament, upon which the Church Society is based. As this, however, is a question of considerable importance, especially in regard to the power of the Trustees to borrow money, it is requested that a Committee be appointed to consult with the Trustees as to the most advisable course of procedure.

Plans of the New Church.—A communication has at last reached the Trustees from Mr. Scott through Mr. Howell, approving of the principle of Mr. Kidner's alteration of the original plan, but requesting that he be allowed to furnish a design for the proposed spire. Accepting this suggestion, but leaving the question of the erection of the spire for future consideration, Mr. Kidner's drawings of the main body of the Church are again laid before the meeting, and their adoption finally recommended.

By the substitution of a wooden for a vaulted brick roof, and the employment of materials somewhat less expensive than were stipulated for in the former specifications, and partly also from the reduced cost of building, a very considerable saving has been effected in the proposed outlay.

An estimate has been obtained from responsible foreign contractors to complete the edifice in about 18 months for ..... Tls. 50.000 adding to which for glass, flooring, tiles, gas fittings, &c. ..... „ 6,000

Makes the whole outlay ..... Tls. 55,000.

Having, inclusive of the Government grant of £2,000, about Tls. 30,000 at their disposal, the Trustees rely for the balance on the liberality of the community, and are prepared to begin operations immediately on receiving authority to do so.

H. M. Consul having pointed out that an annual election of Trustees is obligatory under statute, their appointment for the present year is left in the hands of the meeting.

WM. G. CUTHBERTSON.

It was moved by Mr. J. P. TATE, Esq., seconded by Mr. H. W. HARDY, and carried unanimously:—

Res. I.—That the report and accounts as submitted to the meeting be approved and that the same be printed and published.

Proposed by Mr. GAMWELL, seconded by Mr. WALLER, and carried unanimously.

Res. II.—That a Committee consisting of Messrs. Hanbury, Hargreaves and Duncanson be appointed to confer with H. M.'s Consul and the Trustees as to the construction of a formal trust deed.

Mr. CUTHBERTSON:—We now come to the most important part of to-day's proceedings, and in the absence of my Co-trustees the duty devolves upon me of giving you some account of what has been done during the past year, in furtherance of measures for the erection of our new Church.

Partly for the information of our Chairman who now presides for the first time at a Church Meeting in Shanghai, and partly that you may be able to judge how far the Trustees whose tenure of office has just expired are fairly responsible for the delay that has hitherto taken place, I will with your permission shortly recapitulate the statements made to the meeting held in February 1865.

The old Church of Shanghai, in which Mr. Hobson preached and many of us worshipped, was taken down in the year 1862, and it was not until June 1863, that it was decided to discard the plans of Messrs. Stevens & Robinson, and the Trustees were instructed to apply to Mr. Gilbert Scott for a new design which it was hoped would be a model of modern ecclesiastical architecture. Whether we might not have done better by consulting a gentleman of less reputation but with more time at his command than Mr. Scott evidently has, it is needless now to enquire, it is sufficient to say that those instructions were at once carried out. Mr. Scott was written to, the main conditions laid down being that he should prepare plans of a Church to accommodate 800 at a cost of £20,000, and let us have them as early a date as possible. Unfortunately reference had to be made to Shanghai for information as to the materials that could be obtained, the cost of labour and sundry other matters, and it was not until the 1st of November 1864, that the plans reached us by the hands of the Rev. Mr. Butcher. They were laid before a meeting held on the 22nd of the same month, when it was resolved to delay any decision respecting them until they had been more fully considered, and reliable estimates could be procured as to their probable cost. Instead of a Church with 800 sittings we found that Mr. Scott had only provided for 460, and the lowest estimate that could be obtained was, exclusive of the spire, Tls. 75,000.

Seeing the absolute necessity of some considerable alteration, Mr. Kidner was employed by the Trustees to enlarge the general plan so as to give the requisite accommodation, and his drawings with the necessary explanations were laid before a meeting held on 4th February last, the minutes of which are now before us. At that meeting the amended plans were agreed to and the Trustees authorized to begin operations when a further sum of Tls. 20,000 had been subscribed. Notwithstanding this resolution the Trustees felt that in a matter of so much importance unanimity was not only desirable but indispensable, and with a view to remove objections which had been strongly urged, they decided to refer the plans to Mr. Scott for his approval, intimating their intention in a letter to Sir Harry Parkes dated February 8th, which I shall now read.

(Letter read.)

Had Mr. Scott replied to this letter in due course the very earliest date at which his answer could have reached us was the end of June or beginning of July, and as not any objection was raised to the course we thought fit to pursue I submit that the only delay that can be fairly charged to the Trustees has been that of the last six months. Feeling as we did that Mr. Scott's approval of the alteration of his design was of paramount importance, I see no reason to regret that we have allowed this time to pass unemployed, particularly as I have now the pleasure to inform you that we learn through Mr. Howell that Mr. Scott has expressed himself fully satisfied with all Mr. Kidner has done, and consequently we are now justified in saying that the design of our new church is in point of fact as thoroughly a work of Mr. Scott's as if the alterations had been entirely his own.

After this explanation I cannot in justice to my Co-Trustees and myself pass over without remark certain anonymous communications that have from time to time appeared in the columns of one of our daily papers, culminating in a letter signed "A Third Resident" published a few weeks ago. This writer with an ignorance of the facts, a misrepresentation of motives, and an in-elence of diction I have seldom seen equalled, accuses us of having sent home the plans in order to prevent operations, and talks of the gross negligence that has been exhibited as sufficient to deprive the Trustees entirely of the confidence of the community. Such epithets we have felt to be simply insulting, and considering that hardly a week has passed for the last six months without some consultation on the subject, and that Mr. Kidner has been constantly employed in endeavours to bring the plans within the limits of our finances, I hope the meeting will be convinced that they are utterly unmerited and that, second only to their desire that the new church should be worthy of Shanghai and the reputation of the architect, the wish of the Trustees has all along been to see its completion at the very earliest moment.

Between the plans laid before last meeting and those on the table to-day there are a few points of difference which I shall only mention, leaving it to Mr. Kidner to give you any details that may be required.

We propose in the meantime to bring the foundation of the spire only to the level of the ground line, leaving its erection in accordance with Mr. Scott's promised design to the residents of future years, unless the amount of subscriptions received should greatly exceed our expectations. For a vaulted brick roof, involving large expense and considerable difficulty of construction, we have substituted one of timber, keeping however to the original lines, and for Singapore wood we propose using ordinary piles and American timber for the roof and fittings, while the arches as shown in the drawings can be of brick throughout, instead of granite. These modifications, not affecting the comfort or accommodation of the church, and perhaps rather improving the general appearance, have enabled us to bring down the estimates to Tls. 55,000, and if the community can only support us with the same munificent liberality that lately gave $6,000 or $7,000 to an equally laudable but not more important object, I am in hopes that a few weeks longer will see this great work begun with every prospect of a successful accomplishment.

At the request of the Chairman, Mr. HOWELL explained that he had submitted to him from Shanghai and he had received his assurance that the harmony of the original design had been preserved throughout the alterations made by Mr. Kidner, and he was glad to find that there was in Shanghai an architect who so thoroughly understood his views and who appeared to be so capable of carrying them out satisfactorily. He agreed with the Chairman that we may have benefitted by the delay which had taken place in building the new Church, for had the first plans we received been adopted, the building would have been almost a disgrace to the community; where is we should now have a structure by one who stood at the head of his profession as a Church Architect and whose name was entitled to a place amongst those of Wren, Jones and Van Buren, and the community might well congratulate themselves on having in Mr. Kidner a local architect so well able to carry out Mr. Gilbert Scott's designs.

Proposed by Mr. Dent seconded by Mr Dickenson and carried unanimously:—

Res. III.—That the plans of the new Church as laid before the meeting be adopted, and that the Trustees be authorised to begin operations at once and that subscription lists be opened to provide the additional sum required.

Mr. LAWRANCE would suggest that the work should be proceeded with before the subscription list was sent round. He fancied sound people would be far more willing to subscribe again when they saw something was actually being done, and many old subscribers now in England would on their return hardly feel inclined to pay a new subscription if they found that nothing had been yet done with the money contributed by them two or three years ago.

After an explanation from Mr Cuthbertson that if the plans were now definitely passed no further delay than what was necessary for drawing up the contract and specifications would be made, the resolution was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

Proposed by Mr. THORNE, seconded by Mr. Lawrance and carried unanimously:—

Res. IV.—That Mr. Wm. Cuthbertson and Mr. W. Keswick be appointed Trustees for the present year, and that Mr. Henry Dickenson be appointed Treasurer.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

THE German Club Concordia was formally inaugurated on Wednesday evening the 10th instant, in the presence of about seventy members, and several guests. The chair was occupied by Mr. TETTENBORN, President.

The CHAIRMAN in opening the proceedings, said:—Gentlemen, I have this evening the satisfaction of welcoming you within the walls of our new Club. Look around you in every corner of the building, and I trust you will find that the work which we have done is a credit to us. Your task it will now be to give vitality, and I trust a long continued vitality, to this institution. My sincere desire is that these walls may for years to come be witnesses of rational enjoyment and cheerfulness, and that from to-night the whole building may be transformed into a temple of German faithfulness, German manliness and German hospitality (loud cheers).

The minutes of the last preliminary meeting were then read and approved, and the statutes were passed. The house rules were also submitted, and after some discussion passed in the form in which they had been laid before the meeting.

It was then proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously:—

That the permanent Committee, consisting of Messrs. Tettenborn, Ohl, Hübener, Fierz and Siegfried, enter upon the discharge of their duties, and that the thanks of the meeting be given to the provisional Committee who now retire.

Mr. KNOOP proposed and Mr. FIERZ seconded:—

That a vote of thanks be passed to Mr. Probst, the proprietor of the Club House for the kindness wherewith he placed the building at the disposal of the Club, and offered to make the necessary alterations, without which action on Mr. Probst's part, the Club would probably have not existed.

Carried unanimously.

The CHAIRMAN then declared the meeting closed, and the members and guests repaired to the supper room where an abundant repast had been laid out, and which had been most tastefully decorated with national and private flags.

After due justice had been done to the more solid portion of the viands, the CHAIRMAN rose to propose the first toast. He said:—Gentlemen, Fill your glasses. Although I shall not keep you very long, yet to what I have to say I claim your earnest attention. Our first duty is to wish long life and prosperity to this club, the child of our cares, which we to-day baptize Concordia. Concordia is its name, let Concordia be emblematical of its nature. May it flourish amongst us for ever (loud cheers).

The toast was drunk standing, all present uniting in the honours.

Mr. KNOOP, after a brief pause, rose and said:—Gentlemen, our worthy president has expressed the best wishes, wishes echoed by us all, for the continued prosperity of this club. I am happy to say that we have already given unmistakeable signs of vitality, not the least important or welcome of which is the presence here of guests. Gentlemen, I give you the health of those who have given us the pleasure of their company this evening, and I trust that what they have seen of our unity and good-fellowship will prompt them to unite with us in supporting this institution. (Cheers.)

The toast having been drunk,

Mr. JAMIESON said that he felt highly honoured not only in being an invited guest at the banquet which they had just enjoyed, but also in having been selected to reply to the toast proposed by Mr. Knoop. He might perhaps say without vanity that, as the only Englishman in the room, he was the most fit to express the thanks of the guests, for by birth, by education and by feeling, as well as by the ties which now bind together the Royal lines in Germany and in England, Germans and Englishmen are led to regard one another as more closely related than are the nationals of any other two countries in the world. Yes, Gentlemen, both as a resident in this important city, watching with interest every movement likely to increase the prosperity or the enjoyment of the community, and as an Englishman sympathising with the wishes and aspirations of those whom I may call my German fellow countrymen, I welcome the inauguration of this German Club. I hope, however, that it will not be altogether a German Club. Indeed were it so, in inviting myself and the other guests you would have laid yourselves open to the charge of cruelty rather than have gained our gratitude. For these spacious rooms, those inviting billiard tables and bowling alleys to say nothing of the gymnasium, are sufficient to excite every man of us to solicit admission amongst your ranks. I beg most heartily to thank you, and before I conclude I am sure you will excuse me if I take the liberty of proposing a toast. I wish to propose the health of a gentleman to whom in a great measure we owe the pleasant evening we have spent, our worthy Chairman, Mr. Tettenborn. (Cheers.)

The health of the Chairman having been duly and enthusiastically honoured, Mr. TETTENBORN rose, and said:—Gentlemen, I stammer my thanks for the toast so eloquently introduced by Mr. Jamieson, but I must disclaim the merit which he ascribes to me. That of which alone I would be proud is that I am fortunate enough to be president of THIS CLUB.

Mr. HÜBENER said:—Gentlemen, I beg your attention for a few moments and I hope you will excuse the liberty I take in addressing you, when you take into consideration the toast I am about to propose. We have already drank the health of our honoured president, but there is another member of the Committee who deserves our sincerest thanks for the energy he has displayed in getting up the Club. It is even more bounden on us to drink his health now, inasmuch as to our deep regret we find that he is unable to join us on this occasion. I need hardly say that I allude to Mr. Ohl, whose health has compelled him to go South, and refrain from putting the keystone on this edifice which is the result of his influence and the embodiment of his ideas. We can only hope that returning health will soon restore to us one whose aid has proved and will yet prove so valuable. Gentlemen, I propose the health of Mr. Ohl.

Drunk with enthusiasm.

Mr. WIESLER said:—I trust you are all well satisfied with what the provisional committee have done, and on our parts I may say that we are glad to have been instrumental in preparing a place where we Germans in whom those belonging to other nations may meet together and unite in harmony and good-fellowship. If we succeed in finding within this club a common home we shall be assisted to remember that real home, that beloved home which we all have in view, around which all our affections cluster, and to which we all hope to return. I am sure our meeting here this evening has summoned such recollections to each breast, and while these pleasant associations are still fresh within us, I call on you to drink with me to the health and prosperity of HOME! (loud cheers.)

This toast was drunk standing, and honoured with three times three, together with several small cheers thrown in before the guests sat down.

Mr. DAUCKER, who spoke in English from consideration for those of the guests who were unacquainted with German, said:—Gentlemen, I have been requested to propose a toast which will at once engage all your sympathies. We, Germans, Englishmen, Frenchmen and Americans, come to China with the sole object of gaining those materials advantages which are to be derived from the commerce of this vast country. The Tea-merchants, those who are interested in Silk or in Cotton or in any of the products of the empire, not to forget the freight-brokers, have a stake in the prosperity of Shanghai not to be easily estimated. It is our home for a time, but only for a time. We look to escape as soon as possible, and to that end we welcome every symptom which seems to promise a more speedy realisation of our hopes. Therefore, Gentlemen, fill your glasses, and drink with me The prosperity of Shanghai, (loud cheers.)

It is almost needless to say that the gentleman present rose as one man to do honour to this toast.

Mr. PROBST:—Gentlemen, fill your glasses for I have a toast to propose to which I am sure you will all heartily respond. The name of our Club already indicates that we have a weak side and a profound respect for the Ladies. May the Ladies of Shanghai often grace with their presence the festivals which I trust we may expect to find celebrated in these rooms, and in the meanwhile their health, the health of The Ladies of Shanghai.

Several other toasts of a minor character followed, and the evening was still further enlivened by Messrs. Knoop, Nostell and others who played and sang until an advanced hour in the morning. As the last bar died away, and the last guests sadly left the deserted saloon, there was but one common impression, that so jolly a evening had not for months been spent, and that probably a long time would elapse before such another could be anticipated.

THE VOLUNTEER MEETING.

MINUTES of the Annual General Meeting of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, held at the Main Guard, on Thursday the 11th of January 1866, at 3.30 P.M. SIR EDMUND HORNBY, Commandant, in the Chair.

The COMMANDANT opened the proceedings by reading the letters of resignation forwarded to him by the Officers of the Corps, and his reply thereto. The reason why he had not accepted these resignations was that the annual meeting of the Corps was about to be held, at which the question of the continued existence of the Volunteers would be definitively settled. There was now an opportunity of taking the sense of the meeting on the question. Personally he was of opinion that the Corps should be sustained, as to it the residents must look in case of danger arising either from within or from without. In this opinion he was confirmed by a high Military authority, who had expressed his belief that Volunteers could hold Shanghai against any force of Chinese likely to be brought against it. But efficiency in time of danger depended directly on the attention paid to drill in time of peace. He (the speaker) did not think it necessary that Volunteers should drill three or four times a week. On the contrary, he thought that company drill once a fortnight, and a general parade once a month would fulfil all requirements. The heads of houses, as those most deeply interested in the success of the movement, might afford much assistance by giving their clerks facilities for attending musters. He had been spoken to by several men who expressed their willingness to attend drill and parade, but who pleaded the impossibility of leaving their business. This apathy on the part of the merchants was discouraging to the particular men in their employ, and showed an example of indifference. A suggestion, which he thought a very excellent one, had been made by a member of the Corps; viz. that the entire body of Volunteers should be divided into a number of squads. Thus they might have a Consular squad, a Bank squad, a Silk squad, a Tea squad, and probably an American and a German squad. Mr. Alabaster had written to him enclosing the names of twenty one Consular men who were ready to join the Volunteers and form a squad of their own for the purpose of drill, failing in, of course, at general parades. If other bodies followed this example the Corps would soon be brought to an efficient strength, but whatever was done should be done earnestly. Two other resignations, those of the Honorary Secretary and Honorary Treasurer had been sent in. He (the speaker) could quite understand the feeling which prompted these resignations. The work which devolved on both these officers was tremendous; the correspondence alone which the Treasurer had to keep up was a labour not to be lightly estimated. Yet so little were his services appreciated that the reasons he gave for re-signing were the flagging interest of the Volunteers and the impossibility of collecting some of the subscriptions. The members should recollect the calls which were constantly made on the Treasurer's time, and save him as far as possible from trouble by paying punctually. Another subject which demanded notice was the financial position of the Corps. Excluding all consideration of Mr. Webb's debt, the Corps was now more than self supporting, and there was every reason to suppose that by the end of June it would be out of debt. The warmest thanks were due to Mr. Dunlop of the Agra Bank, who had kindly advanced the funds required without interest. Moreover the Rangers' funds would for the future be amalgamated with those of the Infantry. He would merely add that the financial statement had been submitted to the auditors and passed. Before proceeding further it would be desirable to take the sense of the meeting as to whether the Rifle corps should be continued. It was a strong expression to use, but he could not help characterising it as a perfect farce to go on as hitherto,—with such small musters at parade. It would be essential to take some measures to secure the active co-operation of the members.

Mr. THORNE said that there was a good enough attendance at the meeting, and it was disgraceful that so few came to parade. He was probably the oldest Volunteer, both as to time and as to age, yet he always managed to find leisure to attend the necessary parades. Why should not younger men be able to do likewise? He would therefore beg to propose, as suggested by the Commandant, that the sense of the meeting be recorded as to whether the Rifle Corps should be continued.

The question was then put to the meeting and carried in the affirmative unanimously amid much cheering.

The COMMANDANT then suggested that the next point was to decide upon some measures for the maintenance of the efficiency of the force, and he would be glad to hear any remarks from members on the subject.

After a somewhat lengthened pause, Mr. Merry suggested he would be advisable to have the Muster Roll signed by all the gentlemen present.

Mr THORNE thought it would be desirable to shut the door at once.

Mr TATE considered there was no necessity for such a step as he was confident all present would be willing to sign the Roll. He was not himself a Volunteer, but a few years ago had acted as one of the five trustees who had resuscitated the old Corps in Shanghai. He thought that the want of spirit in the Corps was merely temporary, and that it was so obvious that we must have a Volunteer force in Shanghai that all would be willing to co-operate in further that object. Therefore he would conclude by saying keep the door open—all would sign. For himself he was going to be enrolled as a full private.

Mr. LAWRANCE thought that the fact of having carried the motion that the Corps should be kept up amounted to little or nothing. Year after year similar enthusiasm had been shewn, only to cool down after a short interval. In a little time the musters would be as small as ever (No! No!) He said Yes! He did not believe any good would result from carrying the motion, doors open or shut. He did not believe that it would make the slightest difference on parade. It would be necessary to have some stronger assurance than a show of hands to encourage the officers who had resigned to again offer themselves or to induce others to do so. It was now too late for him to propose a dissolution of the Corps as a motion had been carried to the contrary, but he considered the smallness of the musters on parade an insult to the Commandant, an insult to the Officers, an insult to the community. But one thing he must say, he did not think the Corps had really met with the support of the community. There was a large number of persons in this settlement, who not only did not join the Corps but did not in any way assist it or further the movement. He did not believe in the idea of having different squads belonging to different classes and different professions. The Rangers Corps was popular enough, and whether it was that the members could get a ride or for some other similar reason, certain it was that the Corps put in much larger numbers. If we admitted the principle of splitting up into class squads, where was it to end? There might be a Broker squad. Well, if the mail came in or a tiffin took place in Shirtings he had a strong idea that very few brokers would be present. Then there might be a Lawyers' squad. But though the Lawyers might in course of time become a numerous class, he thought very often when an important case was going on, the only Lawyer present would be the one who was not engaged upon it (laughter). What was wanted now was inwritten and more earnestness. Let those present consider that in signing the Roll they give a bona fide promise as gentlemen to do their utmost to attend the parades.

The COMMANDANT then proposed to lay the accounts before the meeting and have them passed, which was duly done.

The following is the account current of the Treasurer:—

The election of officers for the present year was then proceeded with. Mr. MARKHAM proposed and Mr. GROOM seconded that Sir EDMUND HORNBY be re-elected Commandant by acclamation. Carried with cheers.

Mr. GEORGE proposed and Mr. JOHNSTONE SMITH seconded that Mr. MARKHAM be elected Captain of the Ranger Corps. This was also carried with much enthusiasm.

The other elections for the Rangers Corps were—

Mr. JOHNSTONE SMITH, Lieutenant.
Mr. GEORGE, Cornet.

Mr. MYBURGH rose to propose that the two Infantry Companies be converted into one until such time as the average attendance at drill be 45 or more.

Mr. ST. CROIX objected to the motion, stating that it would have to be put in the form of a revision of the Rules. Reference was then made to the Rules, and it being found that they did not militate against the proposition, it was put to the Meeting and carried.

The elections for the Infantry were then concluded as follows—

Mr. MACLEAN as Captain.
Mr. CANN as Lieutenant.
Mr. ST. CROIX as Ensign.
Mr. ALABASTER as Secretary.
Mr. MCCALLAN as Treasurer.
Revd. Mr. BUTCHER as Hony. Chaplain.
Dr. PARKER as Hony. Surgeon.

The following letter referring to the amount due to Mr. Webb, late Commandant, was then read to the Meeting.

SHANGHAI, August 12th 1865

To the Foreign Community of Shanghai.

GENTLEMEN,—The Shanghai Volunteer Corps, in conformity with a resolution passed at the general meeting of its members, takes the earliest opportunity of bringing before the foreign Community the claim of Mr. Webb, the first Commandant of the Volunteers.

The Corps have admitted the correctness of the accounts, so far as refers to the expenditure. Without entering at this distance of time into the question of whether or not for every item their late Commandant acted under sufficient, the Committee of the Corps share the opinion of the Corps, that by far the greater portion of the money was expended at a time of great danger and anxiety and with a public object in view. The present members of the Corps, except in their character of members of the Community have derived no benefit whatever from the expenditure. What they are willing that the property of the Corps should bear its just proportion of the burden, which they now urgently beg the Community, by a prompt and generous subscription, to share with them.

Should this appeal be not responded to in the way which the Volunteers have every confidence it will be, no other course will be open to the Corps, but to call upon and surrender to Mr. Webb the Rifle Butts and other property of the Corps, which were unquestionably bought by him, for the purpose of satisfying the claim which has now been made.

I am Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,
EDMUND HORNBY,
Commandant S.V.C.

EMIL MAINTZ,
Hon. Sec. Finance Com. S.V.C.

J. MARKHAM,
Captain S.R.

CLEMENT LUCAS,
FRANCIS A. GROOM,
Captain No. 2 Company S.V.C.

THE COMMANDANT explained that it had been found with regret that there was very little chance of being able to get the amount subscribed by the public. Although the letter had been circulated, as yet only Taels 75 had been subscribed. He hardly knew what course he could recommend. The case was unfortunately one of those where, however willing they might be to do so, they really could not pay the amount, and however much it was to be regretted it perhaps was a matter in which, to use a legal phrase, it would be best for the late Commandant to take advice.

Mr. LAWRANCE considered it would be right to make over the Rifle Butts and the Main Guard to Mr. Webb, and to pay rent for them. This proposition was opposed by Mr. MYBURGH who questioned the liability of the Corps with regard to the amount expended as it did not appear that proper authority had been received, while the ownership of the Main Guard was also an open question. After some further discussion, it was ultimately proposed by Mr. LAWRANCE and seconded by Mr. MARKHAM, that a letter should be written to Mr. Webb, stating the desire of the Corps to discharge the debt, but adding that for the present there were no means at its disposal, at the same time offering to hand over the Rifle Butts and Main Guard and pay rent for them.

Various matters of minor importance were then discussed, when, after the usual compliment to the Chairman, the Meeting separated at a late hour.

FRENCH MEDICINES IN VOGUE.

New and most valuable Medicines, for hitherto intractable and incurable Diseases.

UNLIKE the Patent Medicines generally imported from the United Kingdom, the following from France have been severely tested and scrutinised by the most eminent Government and private analytical and operative chemists and practising physicians of Paris, &c., insomuch that the entire Parisian Medical Faculty, attached to the Government and other Hospitals, &c. in the French Dominions, can, after rigorous trials, with the fullest confidence, recommend them to the favourable notice of all sfaughishing, not only under ordinary diseases, but those who may be "hoping against hope."

No more Cod Liver Oil,—Syrup of Iodised Horse-Radish.

Prepared by GRIMAULT & Co.

According to the Certificates of the physicians of Paris Hospitals detailed in the prospectus, and with the approbation of several Academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success in place of Cod Liver Oil, to which it is really superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula, lymphatic disorders, green sickness, muscular atony, and loss of appetite; it regenerates the constitution by purifying the blood; and is, in a word, the most powerful depurative known. It never fatigues the stomach and bowels like the Iodide of Potassium and the Iodide of Iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours, or obstruction of the glands. DR. CAZENAVE, of St. Louis Hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in cutaneous diseases, conjointly with the pills which bear his name.

No more Consumption.

Diseases of the Chest.—Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime, manufactured by GRIMAULT & Co., Chemists 61 Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. This new medicine, which is delicious to the palate, is a sovereign remedy for coughs, colds, irritation of the lungs, and is also an excellent remedy in cases of consumption. Under its influence the cough abates, nocturnal perspirations cease, and the patient rapidly recovers health and flesh.

No more Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Digestive Elixir of Pepsine, prepared by GRIMAULT & Co. Chemists, 7 Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. Pepsine is the gastric juice itself, or rather the active principle purified, which digests food in the stomach. When from various causes the supply of the digestive fluid is too small, the inevitable consequences are bad digestion, gastralgia, gastritis, inflammation of the mucous coats of the stomach and bowels, heartburn, anæmia, loss of strength, and in females general derangement. The Elixir of Pepsine, which is sanctioned by the approbation of the Paris Academy of Medicine, speedily cures all such diseases, and prevents vomiting during pregnancy.

No more poverty of the Blood and Pale Complexion.

Dr. Leras's Phosphate of Iron.—This new Ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the blood and bones, and iron in a liquid state. From observations made in the Paris Hospital, and detailed in the Prospectus, it is superior to ferruginous pills, lactate of iron, iron reduced by hydrogen, pills and syrup of the iodide of iron, and cures rapidly stomach complaints, painful digestion, poverty of blood, loss of strength and appetite, and the diseases incident to females. It is the best adjunct to cod liver oil, and the best preserver of health in tropical climates.

Internal or Local.

NEW CURATIVE AGENT.

MATICO:

GRIMAULT and Co.—PARIS.

"This new remedy is prepared from the leaves of a Peruvian pepper shrub called MATICO, and cures promptly and infallibly, without any fear of inflammatory results. The great majority of Physicians in Paris, Russia, Germany and New York, now use it in other remedy. Full directions accompany each bottle and Packet, or an explanatory Treatise will be sent post free for 3d.
